

Remembering our colleague

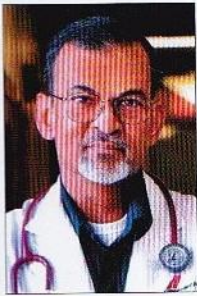

Bryan medical community notes physician's passing

Interventional cardiologist Sabyasachi "Sachi" Mahapatra, MD, of Lincoln died Sept. 23. He was 74.

Dr. Mahapatra was born in 1943 in Cuttack, Odish, India.

He earned a medical degree in 1967 and completed his internship, residency and a cardiology fellowship in India.

Dr. Mahapatra moved in 1977 to Detroit, Michigan, where he completed an internship and residency in internal medicine at Henry Ford

Hospital and a cardiology fellowship at Sinai Hospital. He was certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine and the Subspecialty Board of Cardiovascular Diseases.

Before moving to Lincoln, he practiced in Louisville, Kentucky, and was an assistant professor at the University of Louisville. He also directed the cardiac catheterization laboratory and served in leadership positions at the VA Medical Center in Louisville.

Dr. Mahapatra was a member of the Bryan Medical Staff from 1985-2008.

He was an active supporter of the People's City Mission and other local nonprofit organizations. In his free time, Dr. Mahapatra loved travel, photography and scuba diving.

He is survived by his wife, Amrita; their children, Jyoti, Suraj and Ravi; his in-laws; two grandchildren; five siblings and six nieces and nephews. ■